CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

THESSALONIKI'S LOCARNO INDUSTRY ACADEMY INTERNATIONAL 6-11 November 2017

Applications now open!

The Festival del film Locarno and the Thessaloniki International Film Festival are launching applications call for 'Industry Academy International', a joint initiative aiming to give a significant boost to the careers of new film professionals from South East Europe, the Middle East, Northern Africa and the Mediterranean countries in priority, but it will also include international participants from the Locarno Industry Academy's partner regions (Europe, Latin America, Switzerland and USA).

After a successful pilot edition last year, the second edition of Industry Academy International will take place from November 6–11 2017 during the 58th Thessaloniki International Film Festival.

The THESSALONIKI'S LOCARNO INDUSTRY ACADEMY INTERNATIONAL will design a tailor-made program for eight selected participants that will provide each with a better understanding of the worldwide film industry, at the same time encouraging them in active discussion about current global trends and developments. Of course they will also get to enjoy the special experience of the Thessaloniki Film Festival and all its industry activities.

What the Industry Academy offers to its participants

- Daily sessions with high-profile and experienced professionals and experts including sales agents, distributors, exhibitors, heads of marketing departments, festival programmers and producers

- Case study presentations and informal discussions during which participants can directly interact and exchange opinions/visions with their colleagues and guest speakers
- Group sessions to encourage team work on a specific project
- Access to a number of professional events, particularly in the context of the Agora Industry Days, to gain a better overview of market activities and an understanding of the challenges faced by European and international key players in the film industry
- Access to official festival and professional work-in-progress screenings
- Unique opportunities to broaden their range of professional contacts thanks to specific networking activities with Agora Industry Days attendees.

The Official Language of the Industry Academy is English

Enrolment for the Industry Academy
